The Excitement in Canada Over the Parliamentary Elections To-Morrow

WHAT THE CONSERVATIVES WILL DO IN

Premier Macdonald's Scheme to Retain the Government—Alleged Bargain With the Canadian Pacific Railway on the Matter of Indebtedness—The Issues In-

OTTAWA, Ontario, March 4.—The greatest excitement prevails from one end of the Dominion to the other in anticipation of tomorrow's parliamentary elections. The very evident anxiety of the Government adds weight to the reports which are coming in of a reaction in favor of the Liberals within the past three days. Minister of Finance Foster, who at the time of the dissolution declared that the Government would be returned by an increased majority, now says that it will be reduced fifteen at least. The correspond-to Washington, as promised in his manifesto to open negotiations with the United States in the direction of reciprocity in one form or another before Parliament is called together in May, in the hope that, by having something tangible to lay before the House, he may recapture enough votes in Parliament to enable him to carry on his government. The length to which Sir John would be prepared to go would depend upon the amount of support the candidates favoring unrestricted reciprocity receive at the polls. Should the Liberals be returned with a majority of five or six, as is now believed will the case, Sir John will draw the manufacturers over and go to Washington prepared to offer reciprocity on its fullest sense. It will be remembered that as yet neither Sir John Macdonald nor any member of his cabinet has committed himself to a definition of what measure of reciprocity they would propose if elected. On this point the Liberals have endeavored to draw Sir John out, but without avail. He has condemned unrestricted reciprocity in its literal sense, although, if necessity demands it, he would justify any modification of the national tariff.

position he was taken on the ground that by so doing he was carrying out the verdict of the people. Sir John is equal to any emergency, and if it becomes necessary to take this course to save his party it is not believed that he would hesitate.

A SENSATIONAL REPORT.

MONTREAL, March 4.—The sensational disclosure that the French and British governments are in agreement to divide the world into spheres of influence has created a great excitement in the city.

The Issues Involved.

As stated in the above dispatches, to-morrow the great battle will be fought in Canada over the Parliamentary elections. Sir John Alexander Macdonald, the Prime Minister, decided some time ago on an appeal to the country as the parliament then sitting was not favorable to the views of his administration on trade questions. It has been the endeavor of the Conservative party, of which Macdonald is the leader, to enlarge Canada's trade with England by the lowering of the tariff on British manufactures. They have been unable to accomplish anything in this direction at any moment, and seizing a moment when the Liberal party had through its leader's utterances been committed to unrestricted reciprocity with the United States the appeal to the country was decided upon. The con-

Advocates in their party address issued by Macdonald and in the speeches and publications of their leaders have charged the Liberals with the crime of "annexation," meaning simply trade union with the United States, but actual political union. They call themselves "loyalists" and the Liberals "annexationists." As a part of the Liberal party believes in "annexation" and advocates unrestrained reciprocity as a means to that end, the Conservatives have at times taken on a more extreme basis this characterization. The Liberals have been endeavoring to make this a campaign of education, as they call it, and they are doing it. The Conservatives have been making it a campaign of sentiment. The Queen is being used extensively in their "patriotic" addresses. All of the Liberal party are in the Liberal ranks with the Liberal party. Many churchmen and religionists are in the Liberal ranks, while the bishops of the Catholic Church are

There are 215 members of the House of Commons to be elected to-morrow, 19 for Ontario, 25 for Quebec, 21 for Nova Scotia, 12 for New Brunswick, 5 for Manitoba, 6 for the British Columbia, 6 for Prince Edward Island and 4 for the Northwest Territories. They serve for five years unless Parliament is sooner dissolved.

The excitement is intense, and the prediction as to the result seem to be all made on the basis of wish.

A GRAVE CHARGE.

Frank Weber Alleged to Have Attempted an Assault on Little Girl.

The police are looking for one Frank Weber, charged with attempting to assault a little girl.

Weber, who is wanted on a serious charge, has been employed as a porter at the hotel kept by Mrs. Salines at 501 South Second street. It is alleged that between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock on the evening of the 2d inst. he forced his way into the room of Salines' 15-year-old daughter Rose and attempted to commit a crime with her. At the time the child's screams were heard by her sister, Louise, who ran to her assistance. Weber left the room threatening to kill the girls if they spoke to their father about the matter.

The children were so badly frightened that they remained quiet until about 9 o'clock last night, when the older child told her father what had happened. Salinea at once seized a poker and ran into the saloon. Weber saw him coming and rushed from the place making good his escape. The fellow has not returned. He is a single man, 40 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, with fair complexion and a blonde mustache. He will be prosecuted in case he is caught.

The East Approach of the St. Charles Pontoon Bridge Carried Away.

SOME THIRTY PONTOONS FLOAT DOWN THE RIVER WITH THE ICE.

Several Men Go With the Floating Debris—A Coal Miner Killed and Another Fatally Injured at Coulterville, Ill.—Crushed in the Rollers—Men and Boat Lost.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., March 4.—At 10 o'clock this morning the slick ice in the river broke the east approach and drew of the pontoon bridge that only yesterday had been replaced after last week's break from its mooring, carrying all into the current and towards the big Washburn bridge. In less than five minutes the river front was black with many dozens watching anxiously the novel sight and the fate of three or four men upon the floating pontoon as the wreck neared the bridge. For a few minutes the spectators seemed to hold their breath, believing every second would see the last of the men, and that all of them would be lost when they struck the big piers. Ten minutes from the time of the break the third and fourth piers were struck, and the pontoon, only a few feet from the west third pier, and gracefully continued on down the big slick ice, and the last of the west approach is still in position, and will no doubt remain so long as the wind drives the floating ice to the east side. The ferryboat is lying opposite this city and sounded its whistle of alarm, but only faintly, having but little steam on. It is hardly probable Capt. Owens will make any effort to assist in capturing the bridge and its contents. The ill feeling between the pontoon bridge company and him. The fate of the pontoon bridge is what many old river men have predicted. The ice is not heavy. Nothing has been heard of the men on the pontoon. The amount of the damage has not yet been estimated.

Coal Miners Killed.

COULTERVILLE, Ill., March 4.—Chester Loveland and Otto Barnes were fatally injured in the coal mine here about 10 o'clock this morning. The accident was caused by the falling of slate while the men were working in their room. Medical aid was quickly summoned and the physicians, Dr. Childs and Dr. Kane, are attending the men.

Otto Barnes is dead. There is very little hope of Loveland's recovery.

Men and Boat Lost.

PADUCAH, Ky., March 4.—News of a terrible disaster on the Cumberland River last Thursday was received here yesterday. Curtis Boyd, a general merchant at Canton, started with a party of six laborers for this point. The party were navigating their way on a raft. During the day a violent storm started and in a few minutes the raft was sinking. The steamer Reagan passed the unfortunate party, but as the raft was drifting it would have been extremely dangerous for any craft to venture near it, and in a short time the raft disappeared. Nothing was known of the party with the exception of Boyd and that the other six came from Trigg County, Ky.

Caught on a Bridge.

SCHAFOT, Pa., March 4.—Three girls working for the Schafot Silk Co., started to cross a railroad bridge leading to the Jersey Central tracks. While half way across they saw a train approaching. Two of the girls started in the direction of the train and got safely across, while the other, Kate Williams, attempted to beat the train and was caught and hurled twenty feet in the air. When picked up it was found that she was internally injured and is not expected to live.

A Steamboat Aground.

COULTERVILLE, Ky., March 4.—The big New Orleans steamer Collins, stuck aground with 40 tons of freight at the mouth of Mill Creek. The grounding was caused by the river falling while she was unloading cotton. Two steamers, two tugs and two railway locomotives are trying to pull her off the bar, but the chances are that the guiding star will go to pieces and be a total loss. She is valued at $50,000 and insured for $25,000. Ten thousand people are watching the efforts to save the boat.

Crushed in the Rollers.

NEW YORK, March 4.—While engaged in cleaning about a breaking machine at the Dolphin Jute Mills at Paterson Monday, Thomas Miller, a 17-year-old boy, met a horrible death. He was accidentally caught in the rollers of the machine and instantly without making a cry. One of the hands noticed that the rollers were clogged and threw off the belt, and discovered what was left of the unfortunate cleaner.

Over an Embankment.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., March 4.—A mine car drawn by two mules jumped the rails on the Turkey Run colliery dirt bank yesterday. Joseph Powell and Harry Beadle, with the car and mules, went over the bank, forty feet, to the creek below. Powell and the mules were instantly killed and Beadle was fatally injured.

DIED OF A BROKEN HEART.

A Post Mortem To-Day Re-veals a Genuine Case.

A case of "broken heart" in the strictest sense of those misused words came to light at the Morgue to-day. On the afternoon of the 20 inst., George Washington, a colored man 42 years old, died at the City Hospital less than an hour after his arrival at the institution. The hospital physicians were puzzled to name the cause of death. This morning Dr. Brennan made a post mortem examination on the body of the deceased and found that his heart was ruptured. It was later learned that Washington's old mother died in the south a short time ago, and he has grieved incessantly for her. As he fell at his home, 1011 Clark avenue, on Monday afternoon, he was heard to murmur, "Oh, mother! oh, mother." He never spoke again.

THE CHICAGO MARKET

Corn, Oats and Wheat Touch a Very High Point.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 4.—After 11 o'clock, owing to the stubborn strength of corn and scarcity of the contract grades, the shorts became frightened and stampeded with the result of carrying the price of that cereal to the highest point yet touched on the crop. Oats ran a neck and neck race with wheat and it up the hill and wheat finally caught the contagion and went booming also. The combined strength in grain also lent a little sympathetic strength to provisions.

St. Gem-Tucker.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon Miss Ella Tucker, daughter of Mrs. M. L. Tucker, will be married to Mr. Gustavus William St. Gem, son of Capt. St. Gem of Ste. Genevieve, formerly Collector of the Port of St. Louis. The ceremony will be quietly celebrated by Rev. Dr. Ford of the Second Presbyterian Church at the residence of the bride's mother, No. 810 Sheridan avenue, in the presence of the immediate families of the contracting parties. The bride will be crowned in a stylish tailor-made suit of gray cloth with jacket and gloves to match. Mr. St. Gem had intended leaving this afternoon, but has postponed his journey until to-morrow afternoon when he will leave with the family party by boat to make a visit to his relatives at Ste. Genevieve before going to Little Rock, where he is engaged in business, and has prepared a home for his bride.

Capt. and Mrs. St. Gem arrived yesterday to attend the marriage of their son, and Mrs. Mary Ebert (nee St. Gem) of New York is in the city to attend the wedding of her brother.

THE HENNESSY MURDER.

Strong Evidence Offered by the Prosecution—Identification of Prisoners.—NEW ORLEANS, La., March 4.—At the conclusion of yesterday's sitting of the court twenty witnesses had been examined in the Hennessy murder case. Poitits was identified with the murder in several ways by four or five witnesses. Bagnetto, Scandini, Sinistri and Natali were all recognized as being connected with the murder. The guns and shells found along the line of flight were identified. They were double-barreled shotguns with the barrels sawed off. Some of them had skeleton stocks which folded under the barrel. Nothing of importance has developed to-day. The prosecution will now devote themselves to prove that there was an organized conspiracy to remove Hennessy. No one doubts the prisoners' complicity in the assassination. The evidence was direct on that point. More than one witness testified to the presence of several of the accused at the scene of the murder, both immediately before and after the shooting. Mascarre's evidence was a staggerer to the defense and the jury made every effort to break him down in the cross-examination but he stood as firm as a rock, and his testimony will play no unimportant part in helping the jury to come to a conclusion. The only indication of a conflict in the evidence is the condition of the electric light on Girod and Basin streets. The general opinion, though, is that this is only apparent, not real. An electric light is generally burning brightly for five or ten seconds, long enough to permit witnesses' clear recognition at some little distance and for the next five or ten seconds may be in total darkness. But still the prosecution was strong on this point and it will take testimony to shake the State's case. The conspiracy plot is the one on which the prosecution is strongest and there is no doubt but that they have some mighty convincing evidence to back them up in this theory. To-day being a State holiday no court session was held. To-morrow's session will be highly interesting, and preparations for an enormous throng are being made. The defense is very much worried on the conspiracy matter, and are awaiting with eagerness to-morrow's testimony.

A rather sensational expose of an attempt on the part of the Italians to build a witness for the State in order to prevent them from giving damaging testimony is made to-day. When the negro, Poole, was put on the stand Monday he gave very positive testimony, and identified several men on trial. During his examination Judge Luzenberg of the State endeavored to bring out the fact that he had been approached and threatened by the friends of the accused.

EAST ST. LOUIS AND BELLEVILLE.

Items of Interest From the East Side of the Bridge.

Dennis O'Connell, conductor of electric car No. 4 of the East St. Louis line, who was injured on Broadway yesterday, is expected to recover. Dr. Wilhelm attended him at St. Mary's Hospital and found that he had sustained no fractures, but his lungs showed injury and he is being treated for pneumonia.

The police are looking for a man charged E. C. Scott, who is wanted on the charge of swindling J. J. Driscoll by means of a check for $5,000. The check was cashed at the Bank of the Republic of St. Louis. It called for $5,000 and was signed by Charles E. Carroll. Charles E. Carroll has purchased a residence on North Third street which he will occupy with his family.

Milton C. Brown of Rose Lake is confined to his home by illness. His condition is not dangerous.

Capt. H. D. O'Brien of the Picket Guard is convalescent after a severe illness. Treasurer Martz will collect taxes on East St. Louis property at his office up to the 10th inst., after which he will turn over his books to the County Treasurer.

Belleville. The March meeting of the Board of Supervisors was held yesterday. A petition of the East St. Louis City Council to ratify the annexation of New Brighton was granted on condition that the village pay a proportionate share of the expenses of the City of Belleville.

The Grand jury adjourned yesterday, reporting ninety-one cases considered and twenty-two indictments found. Nineteen indictments were returned yesterday. George Schultz of Madison died at the County Hospital yesterday. He was 64 years of age.

The St. Clair County Medical Society meets to-morrow afternoon at Liederkreis hall, to adjourn in the County Court yesterday.

No one doubts the prisoners' complicity in the assassination. The evidence was direct on that point. More than one witness testified to the presence of several of the accused at the scene of the murder, both immediately before and after the shooting. Mascarre's evidence was a staggerer to the defense and the jury made every effort to break him down in the cross-examination but he stood as firm as a rock, and his testimony will play no unimportant part in helping the jury to come to a conclusion. The only indication of a conflict in the evidence is the condition of the electric light on Girod and Basin streets. The general opinion, though, is that this is only apparent, not real. An electric light is generally burning brightly for five or ten seconds, long enough to permit witnesses' clear recognition at some little distance and for the next five or ten seconds may be in total darkness. But still the prosecution was strong on this point and it will take testimony to shake the State's case. The conspiracy plot is the one on which the prosecution is strongest and there is no doubt but that they have some mighty convincing evidence to back them up in this theory. To-day being a State holiday no court session was held. To-morrow's session will be highly interesting, and preparations for an enormous throng are being made. The defense is very much worried on the conspiracy matter, and are awaiting with eagerness to-morrow's testimony.

A rather sensational expose of an attempt on the part of the Italians to build a witness for the State in order to prevent them from giving damaging testimony is made to-day. When the negro, Poole, was put on the stand Monday he gave very positive testimony, and identified several men on trial. During his examination Judge Luzenberg of the State endeavored to bring out the fact that he had been approached and threatened by the friends of the accused.

The police are looking for a man charged E. C. Scott, who is wanted on the charge of swindling J. J. Driscoll by means of a check for $5,000. The check was cashed at the Bank of the Republic of St. Louis. It called for $5,000 and was signed by Charles E. Carroll. Charles E. This day brings to an end the most unpopular Congress that ever met in Washington.

The copyright bill has become a law and thus one blot upon the escutcheon of Uncle Sam is wiped out.

THE departing Republican members of the House displayed a great deal of magnanimity by voting for Speaker KREBS's resolution of thanks.

THE anxiety of the machine bosses to crowd the municipal reform ticket off the track is the best evidence of the strength of the reform movement.

THE spectacle of an attorney dictating to the Judge of a court how soon he should decide a question taken under advisement is a humiliation not known outside of St. Louis.

SENATOR PLUMB has accomplished another good stroke for tariff reform by his bold exposure of the New England conspiracy to tax the rest of the country for its own benefit.

If the Governor succeeds in effecting a combination between the Francis Democrats, the Farmers' Alliance and the corporations he will bring out the most remarkable political freak that ever existed.

THE law providing for the maintenance of a Criminal Court in the city of St. Louis might be amended advantageously by the addition of a section establishing an Advisory Board of lawyers for the benefit of the Judge.

THE demand of the Farmers' Alliance of Cole County that the Noland defalcation be investigated indicates that the "scandal smothering" conduct of the State Legislature is becoming an issue with the people.

REPRESENTATIVE JULIAN of Kansas City is a "perfectly lovely" man; he has introduced a bill permitting women to hold any clerical office in Missouri and providing for the equal division of clerkships in county offices, without discrimination in pay, between males and females.

THE amendment of the special jury law so that a special jury may be ordered at the discretion of the court and not at the wish of a litigant who happens to have the money to pay for one meets a demand for the re-establishment of equality between rich and poor in the matter of obtaining justice.

SOME time must elapse before all the mischief embodied in the avalanche of bills rushed through in the closing hours of the Fifty-first Congress can be discovered and involved by the press. If the unknown is a piece of what is known to have been done more openly, the record will be a fearful one.

THE bill pending in the Missouri Legislature forbidding the sale of cigarettes to minors has been in force in Pennsylvania for two years, and the Philadelphia papers are commenting on the fact that the first time under the law has just been imposed, although evidence of its violation have been seen on the streets by the hundred every day since the law was passed.

It seems that few parents care to enforce it, and therefore it is practically a dead letter statute.

THE Canadian Conservatives have made the issue of Canada for the British or for Canadians, and must stand or fall by it in the elections. They cannot complain if the reaction towards commercial union with the United States should go as far as they would have taken the Government in the opposite direction.

PITTSBURGH reporters have queer ideas about the conditions surrounding corpses after burial. The able young man who described the cremation of EMMA ABBOTT wrote that when taken from the casket
"the singer still wore the same dress in which the corpse appeared on the day of the funeral." The grave places limits upon the ruling passion of even a successful prima donna.

THE powerful interests arrayed against the labor payment bill have downed Labor Commissioner MERIWETHER. They have had their revenge on the chief promoter of that bill, from whose official labors it sprang and acquired its strength. But the Governor's political engagements and arrangements compelled him to appoint in MERIWETHER's place a professed friend of the bill, the brother of the President of the Farmers' Alliance. It remains to be seen how the ultimate fate of the measure will be affected by this political alliance.
The supposition is that this queer conjunction has distinct reference to the nomination for Governor in 1892, the succession to COCKRELL's seat in the Senate, and other good things in sight.

THE desire of the Governor to make a profitable political combination with the leader of the Farmers' Alliance was not, it seems, the only reason for the substitution of HALL for MERIWETHER in the Labor Commissioner's office. Mr. MERIWETHER has been active in exposing the political practices of corporations in holding back the pay of employees and compelling them to take wages in the form of goods under the "plunk me" store system. He has also proposed legislation designed to secure the full rights of employees of corporations.
This course, according to Mr. MERI-WETHER, was not pleasing to the Governor, who called a halt on the crusade for the fair treatment of corporation employees.
In endeavoring to make the Farmers' Alliance and the corporation monopolies pull together on his political chariot the Governor is attempting a risky undertaking.

THIS IS FUNNY.

Councilman Comfort Indorses the Independent Citizens' Movement.

THE RECORDER'S DECISION WILL GIVE THE INDEPENDENTS TROUBLE.

What They Propose to Do to Get Their Ticket Before the People—The Democratic Committee Fixes the Dates for the Primary and Convention—Studying the Australian System—Notes.

Councilman Comfort favors the Independent movement.

The gentleman was asked this morning whether he would be a candidate on the Republican ticket, but he has not yet declared himself publicly and he did not say. He did say, however: "I am in favor of the Independent movement; I think it is a good and a healthy thing. It arouses interest and it will bring out a large vote. I am a candidate I will be still more in favor of it, because I would rather have two men opposing me than one."

Mr. Comfort's philosophy will no doubt be acceptable to many candidates. It is ingenious, if nothing else, and he is probably exactly right when he says that the independent movement will bring out a large vote.
The supporters of the Independent movement have been called on for a platform resolutely since the adoption of the independent platform. The platform has been set forth whenever it was demanded and often, for that matter, but they are thinking of including in it a story Mr. George E. Leighton told at the meeting of the Informal Club. The incident related by Col. Leighton is told in this way:

He had once engaged in a movement with some other citizens to reform ward politics.
The issue was joined in the election of delegates to a City Convention. When Col.
Leighton got to the meeting it was in charge of the party machine engineers. He was in the chair, but vacated it and Col. Leighton chosen President. He knew that Leighton would not content himself with a fraud, but the engineer did more than that. He took the delegation already chosen into a side room, scratched one of the names off and substituted the name of Col. Leighton. That was all for that night. Next morning, while the speaker was at breakfast, he got a note from the machine engineer to call around. Col. Leighton responded to the summons, and was shown a complete ticket to be nominated at that day's convention. It was then through, too, except one name, which Col. Leighton succeeded in defeating by vigorous fighting.

The Independents say they need do nothing more than relate this incident to show that reform through party conventions is impossible.

When the Australian system of electing public officers was adopted by the State of Missouri, the purpose was supposed and said to be to secure a fair and impartial free expression of opinion by the voters of the State. Knowing its provisions, everyone thought that it would be possible for the voters not only to cast their votes independent of the influences which might surround them, but also to cast off, if they desired to do so, party dictation and machine rule, and thus the platform of the independent movement was to be the platform of the happy influences of this law many of the citizens of St. Louis have come before the people with a ticket which is to be submitted at the election on April 7 to fill the vacancies which will occur in the City Council, and the six men who are proposed for the places are: Charles Nagle, Edward Wilkerson, Philip Granger, P. J. Pauley, John J. O'Connor and John M. Dutro. The ticket is known as the "Independent Municipal Ticket."

It is expected that Mr. Carlisle would comply with the request without question, but he consulted an attorney and the advice he received was that each candidate should be certified independently by 1 per cent of the qualified voters, and that the candidate who received the most votes should be elected. It was then decided that the candidate who received the most votes should be elected. It was then decided that the candidate who received the most votes should be elected.

It is under that section that the fathers of the Independent movement are circulating the nominating petition which is being sig-nated by the voters of the city and county.
One section should be borne in mind, for it plays an important part in the discussion. It is sec. 6, which says:

"The petition of nomination of a candidate for office selected by any convention of delegates, as herein defined, shall be signed and executed by the presiding officer and secretary of such convention."

WHAT THE OPINION IS BASED ON.
Now the section on which Mr. Carlisle's attorney bases his opinion reads thus:

"Sec. 9. No certificate of nomination shall contain the name of more than one candidate for each office to be filled."

And yet it seems strange that there could be any doubt about this section. The independent ticket does not name more than one nominee for one office. There are six vacant offices in the Council, and one man is named for each. The fact that they are all upon one petition does not play any part. According to sec. 6, the presiding officer and secretary of a convention will file one certificate which will contain all the names of all the candidates for the Council and all other offices.
A separate certificate for each is not required and the law makes the certificate prepared by electors just like the certificate prepared by the officers of a convention, except that it must be signed differently. Comparing the two sections quoted above one can easily see that if the electors merely prepare a separate certificate for each man so must the convention. The law requires that not more than one nominee for each office shall be contained in each certificate and the Independent ticket complies with that legal provision, for there are six offices and it names six men.

And as to the heading on the ballot this law properly interprets the law. The independent ticket clearly a right to that. To refer again to the law, sec. 6 of the same law describes the certificate, and then says:

"The certificate may also designate by name the party or principle which such nominees shall represent."

That the petition which, when signed, will become the certificate, does, but sec. 7, which specifies what the ballot shall contain,
says:

"Every ballot shall also contain the name of the party or principle which the candidates represent, as contained in the certificate of nominations.

The law then makes the compulsory for it says "shall"—upon the Recorder to group under one head the candidates chosen by any convention or electors provided they are chosen as the representatives of the party or principle upon a heading representing the party or principle which the candidates represent.

THE PARTIES WILL FIGHT IT.
Of course, it is expected that the parties will fight the movement. In fact, as one man said this morning, "The bosses are out altogether with their eyes and ears to the moment to get a swipe at it." But it is not to be supposed that the Recorder will throw any obstacles in the way. There is a reason behind the fear of the parties to the independent movement. The law requires that a nominal fee of 50 cents shall be paid for each name entered.

If all six names are included on each petition, the attestation of the 600 names cost $300, but if six certificates of 100 names each have to be prepared the work will cost $1,500, which would swamp most ordinary independent movements. Not this one, however. So far from dreading such a disaster, the independent movement is prepared to new life. The courts will be appealed to, and in the meantime, as a matter of safety, the necessary steps towards securing representation without question will be taken.

FIGHT DECLARED OFF.

DECISION OF THE CALIFORNIA CLUB IN THE LA BLANCHE-MITCHELL CASE.

The Marine and His Second Barred From the Club—Maud S. to Be Bred Into a Spawing Family—Latest News of the Base Ball Middle.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 4.—The directors of the California Athletic Club held a meeting last night to consider the award of the victory in the recent fight between Peter Herget, known as "Young Mitchell," and Geo. La Blanche, "the Marine." Charges have been made that the fight was sold. The directors decided that the fight was not to the satisfaction of the club and declared it off and barred La Blanche from the club. The fight was sold to the Marine by the directors of the club. The Marine was to be bred into a spawing family. The latest news of the base ball middle is that the fight was sold to the Marine by the directors of the club.

The following extract from the San Francisco Call concerning the fight will prove interesting reading: "George La Blanche was given a tropical reception when he was about to leave the ring at the California Club after being 'knocked out' by Young Mitchell. The instant he left his chair a grand chorus of voices arose from the 700 members, each one crying 'Fakel fakel You can't you scoundrel!' The Marine hung his head in shame as he walked with firm step, accompanied by his assistants, across the ring and to his dressing room. He said, 'I am a telegram from Boston awaiting him, which read: 'Have heard that you have agreed to go here. If so, your name is done for here.' It was noticed that the Marine's right hand, which has done such excellent execution in the past, went over Mitchell's shoulder when it probably could have landed on the latter's jaw or neck. True it is that La Blanche landed some stiff body blows at close range, and during some heated spells of fighting he punched the Californian pretty heavily, but the manner in which the Marine went out in the middle of the twelfth round from a straight left hand punch in the neck, immediately under the right ear, created a howl from the least to the loudest of those present, who did not at all hesitate to say that the 'knockout,' so far as La Blanche was concerned, was a fake of the most palpable kind. When George Augustus received the punch he dropped to the floor and rolled over on his hands and feet. The way in which the 'roll' was executed did not look as if the 'knocked out' man was unconscious and unable to regain his pins at a moment's notice, but not a move higher than the position he had taken on his hands and feet, as if he was intent on playing leap frog, did George La Blanche execute.

"When the number '10' was called 'the Marine's' seconds ran across the ring and 'assisted' the muchly knocked out fighter to regain his equilibrium. It did not take many seconds to bring him to consciousness, and the jeers and shouts of disapprobation which rang in his ears must have been heard by him. He has still to learn how to be a good actor. So far as Mitchell was concerned he seemed to do his best to win, and made a good fight up to the time his opponent took to the boards."

WANT SPARING PERMITTED. A petition has been sent to the Legislature by the Missouri Gymnasium and Athletic Club asking that the law prohibiting sparring in public be amended so as to permit amateurs to spar with eight-ounce gloves. A law discriminating between amateurs and professionals cannot be passed by the Legislature and made operative, as it would be class legislation, and therefore illegal. If amateurs are permitted to spar, professional boxing cannot be stopped. However there is undoubtedly a strong sentiment here in favor of permitting amateur boxing to spar with eight-ounce gloves. BASE BALL. Everything that has transpired during the past week in base ball circles has increased the gap between the two major leagues, and whatever chances there might have been for the patching up of a truce have vanished and now it is war to the knife. The Philadelphia Press. Had anything like cool judgment prevailed all this might possibly have been averted and the ruinous experience of last season would not have been repeated. All the blame for this state of affairs must rest on the National League, and it will be upon it that the weight of public condemnation will fall. They have repeatedly provoked the fight by falling, as they have many times before, to keep the solemn obligations of a promise by which they gained their ends. They have refused to show this, but no one who was at the New York meetings will for one moment question that such were the conditions upon which peace was brooked up. In fact, the National League officials themselves have admitted such to be the case.

FOGARTY NOT DYING. A Philadelphia telegram says: Jimmy Fogarty, the noted center fielder and ex-captain, was eating ice cream this afternoon when friends called to see his corpse, having read in a morning paper that he was dying of hemorrhage, presumably due to consumption. "I'm not dead, I haven't signed with anybody, either Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, and I'm not making bargains until I get over the grip," said Fogarty. "Hanson of Pittsburgh thinks he has good reasons to believe I'll sign with him. That statement yesterday about my promising to sign with the Phillies was due to the known fact that Hanson had gone off with out a cent, and I was told that he was to be paid $25,000 for my trying to die in a morning paper."

THE LEAGUE WAGGLING. New York, March 4.—The World this morning says that at the meeting last night of the National League, Messrs. Brush, Robinson and Spalding formed a combination that will, if it succeeds, make the base ball season of 1891 as disastrous as the season of last year. They want the League to establish a rival club to Al Johnson's team in Cincinnati, and they want the League members to help establish and support it. Boston, Philadelphia and Brooklyn will contribute a cent to the purpose, and New York and Pittsburgh are not in a position to do so. The meeting last night was characterized by some of the most heated discussions that it has ever known, and when the delegates came out of the meeting-room at midnight they were visibly excited.

NOT DESIRABLE OF BALDWIN AND O'CONNOR. Chris Von der Ahe, the President of the St. Louis Base Ball Club, stated this morning that he had not seen Jack O'Connor and did not know whether the latter had jumped his contract with Columbus. He believed, however, that O'Connor had jumped, as that player had told Secretary Munson of the St. Louis club that he did not get $2,000 he would sign with Baldwin to go to the Pittsburgh National League team.

"It makes little difference, however," said Mr. Von der Ahe, "for O'Connor's contract with Columbus is as good as gold and the Association has decided to enjoin all players who have jumped their contracts. These injunction suits will be brought on April 1, when their contracts take effect. Munson telegraphed Columbus that O'Connor would sign with Baldwin unless paid $2,000 for the coming season. Munson did this not because there is any doubt as to the validity of O'Connor's contract, but because he wanted to let the Columbus Club know the exact condition of affairs, so that if they wished to pay $2,000 to avoid all trouble over O'Connor they could do so. They very properly refused to pay the extra money to avoid trouble, as they knew they could prevent O'Connor playing with any other club under the contract they have with him. I would have acted precisely as they did under similar circumstances. The national agreement clause in our contracts, which the League claims renders them void, merely binds the player to live up to the national agreement—that is, it holds him to the reserve rule. By the Association breaking away from the national agreement the player is relieved of his responsibility. As his responsibility is decreased and not increased by the action of the Association in withdrawing from the national agreement, the contract cannot be effected so far as the player is concerned. It is as binding on him as it ever was, and the National League well knows this, but are endeavoring to make things as unpleasant as possible for us, if by withdrawing from the national agreement we added any to the responsibility of the players under our contract then the Association will not tolerate signing players who have been victimized that way. The first principle of law knows there is nothing in the claims that body is now making that our contracts are invalid. No matter what the League may do in the way of inducing our players to jump their contracts we shall not be guilty of any such practices with their men. We do not intend to honor the reserve rule, of course, and in this we will be upheld by the people, who have always been opposed to it, but the Association will not tolerate signing players who have already contracted for the season. And there are a number of them ready to jump the League if we will consent to sign them. The League is making its fight in Louisville and Columbus, and they hope to break up those clubs by signing their players, but they will fail in their purpose. They have been singled out as the two weakest clubs. The Pittsburgh team, which is signing all the men for the League, is owned by Spalding and Reach, and the men will eventually be played in Chicago to take the places of the players that Spalding is losing. Farrell, the great catcher of Chicago Club, and Duffy, the crack right fielder, have both signed with the Boston Association team. I state that positively. We did not succeed in getting a warrant for conspiracy against Baldwin, but we had a plan for dealing with him that would have been put into operation had he not sneaked out of the city."

THE FEDERAL GRAND-JURY NOTIFIED THAT MANY ARE BEING CIRCULATED.

THE INTERSTATE LEAGUE DEAD. PEORIA, Ill., March 4.—The last attempt to awaken enthusiasm in an Interstate Base Ball League was made yesterday and proved a dismal failure. Representatives from only three cities—Burlington, Evansville and Quincy—were present and no session was held. Telegrams were sent to the other cities, but no responses were received and the matter was dropped.

LOUISVILLE SECURED HIM. LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 4.—P. J. Donovan, the Brooklyn right fielder, was signed yesterday by the Louisville Base Ball Association.

THE TURF. NEW YORK, March 4.—The races at Guttenberg yesterday resulted as follows: First race, six furlongs—Oss 112, McDermott 115, Johnson 112, H. Anderson, second; Bodie 115, Lytle 107, Decker, second; Bessie K. 107, Flynn, third. Time, 1:29. Second race, six furlongs—Lambert 107, Russell 115, H. P. P. 107, second; Longview 110, Delany, third. Time, 1:29. Third race, one mile and a quarter—Joe Courtney 110, Macbeth II 120, The Duke, second; Arnie 919, Weber, third. Time, 2:09. Fourth race, one mile—Portwinkle 100, Flynn, first; Francis 111, The Duke, second; Time, 1:44. Fifth race, one mile—Ozone 103, Flynn, first; Stoughton 115, McDermott, second; John J. 87, J. Barrett, third. Time, 1:30. Sixth race, one mile—Ozone 103, Flynn, first; Stoughton 115, McDermott, second; John J. 87, J. Barrett, third. Time, 1:30.

NEW ORLEANS MEETING. NEW ORLEANS, La., March 4.—Yesterday's races here resulted as follows: First race, six furlongs—Whisper 112, Belmont, second; Time, 1:29. Second race, four and a half furlongs—Madge 110, Belmont, second; Time, 1:29. Third race, six and a half furlongs—Lakewood, first; Vers, second; Raymond, third. Time, 1:29. Fourth race, six furlongs—Whisper 112, Belmont, second; Time, 1:29. Fifth race, six furlongs—Whisper 112, Belmont, second; Time, 1:29. Sixth race, six furlongs—Whisper 112, Belmont, second; Time, 1:29.

SPORTING NOTES. George Tunney writes: "In regard to Mr. James Hanlon's challenge of horse shoe turning, I wish to state that I am willing to compete with him for $500. I am to be found at James J. Made's horse shoeing shop, Twentieth and Clark avenue."

There will be a general meeting of the members of the Missouri Gymnasium this evening at their small entertainment hall. All members are requested to be present, as important business is to be acted upon. Hugh and John McManus have not yet succeeded in making a match with the bulldog left with them to be fought. Jim Cronin had a dog which he said he would pit against him, but the McManus brothers say that when they went to Cronin he weakened, as he had supposed the dog they had to fight was another animal. The fight is being made by the McManus to match the dog against a Cincinatti canine. They are willing to pit their dog against any dog in the world for $500, the animals to fight at twenty-eight pounds, give or take two pounds. They will either fight on neutral grounds or allow expenses to the Cincinnati people to fight here, or accept expenses and fight there.

THE BUDWEISER DIVORCE CASE. WEST PLAINS, N. Y., March 4.—Some very damaging evidence was given against Mrs. James Budweiser in her husband's divorce suit yesterday. The manager of St. Mark's Hotel testified that she and Thomas M. Turner lived together as husband and wife under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver at his hotel several days last July, and testimony equally damaging was given by several other witnesses.

THE BUDWEISER RESTAURANT. Sixth, near Locust, is now under the management of Mr. Pierre Lambert, who serves the best market affords and does it promptly.

IN USUAL METHOD OF PROCEEDING.

The time of action decided upon by the United States District Attorney is a novel one and is likely to cause some rather startling developments. It will be an instance of "tracing" the course of a counterfeit coin by compelling people who have passed it to account for how it came into their possession to a Grand Jury, and so bringing a Grand Jury to light upon suspicion of the guilty parties is first aroused and then justified by the continued investigation. The final result is likely to be the discovery of a sensational case of local counterfeit.

"All the complaints are of counterfeit silver dollars," said Mr. Reynolds, "and in that way the matter should be easily investigated. The counterfeit coin is a very poor specimen of work, crudely executed and of light weight. The peculiar injustice of the cases reported to my office, and so bringing a Grand Jury to light upon suspicion of the guilty parties is first aroused and then justified by the continued investigation. The final result is likely to be the discovery of a sensational case of local counterfeit."

UNDER ANOTHER NAME.

The Garbage Grab Co. Increases Its Capital—How It Is Working.

The St. Louis Sanitary Co. has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the Recorder of Deeds. The capital stock is placed at $200,000, divided into 2,000 shares of $100 each.

"All paid." H. A. Guinzburg holds one share, James Campbell, 1,000 shares; J. B. Clements, 25 shares; Walter J. Binkley, one share, and Wm. F. Reede, 1,250 shares. Mr. John B. Clements was seen today at his office and asked "What is the St. Louis Sanitary Co.?"

"It is the St. Louis Reduction Co. under a new name. We found that our capital was not sufficient to build the works we had in view, and as we would take some ninety days to do the formalities before we could increase our stock we decided to re-incorporate. It is the same company, and we will carry the city contracts as before."

"Won't you have to transfer the contracts by ordinance?"

"I think that is provided for in the ordinance to extend the time for building the works."

"Is the company now carrying out the dead animal contract?"

"Yes, we are doing that now."

"How are you doing it?"

"We are taking them over the river, as was the custom before."

"You are losing money on it, are you not?"

"Yes, at present. Under that system we have to put up money every month to do the work."

"Have you yet made public the sites selected for your works?"

"No, not yet; in fact, we have not decided on them definitely."

"It will create a good deal of a kick, won't it, when they are announced?"

"Maybe; but they won't know the work is going on. The only trouble will be getting the stuff there, and they stand that now."

Mr. Clements said that work on the plant would be commenced very shortly and the whole business put in working shape.

Forty-Eighth Annual Report.

The annual statement of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York shows the remarkable progress made by this institution during twelve months. The record made by the Mutual eclipses its own best efforts, and naturally exceeds that of any other financial institution in the world. The new business written amounted to $100,985,986, showing a continuous and phenomenal advance. The assets of the Mutual Life now aggregate $147,154,961.20, indicating a gain for the year of $10,758,638.18. The company has now an outstanding insurance account amounting to $69,226,368. Its total income from all sources is reported at $34,978,778.89. It paid to its members during the year for death claims and endowments and other obligations $16,972,200.66. Up to date the Mutual had 268,665 policies in force, showing a gain in membership for the year of 23,745, thus forming the largest army of policy-holders in any regular life insurance company in the world. The surplus fund is now $9,981,233.38 over and above every liability.

The following items culled from the annual statement of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York, Richard A. McCurdy, President, will show the immensity of the operations of this institution during the year 1890.

Capture of Small Boy Burglars.

Officer Bennett of the Central District discovered six small boys in the act of breaking open a case of shoes in the rear of 310 Washington avenue about 7:30 o'clock last night. As soon as the blue-coat put in an appearance the boys took to their heels and escaped. The shoes, it was learned, had been stolen from the sidewalk in front of the O. J. Lewis Auction-house. The boys are known to the police as the "Union Market gang."

Forged an Order for Pencils.

Yesterday afternoon a young man, who says his name is James Crawford, presented a lead pencil order to a clerk in the Simmons Hardware Co. for a gross of Faber's or Dixon's pencils. The order was signed by the E. C. Meacham Arms Co. The clerk called up the Meacham Arms Co. and learned that no order had been given by that firm and Crawford was arrested and locked up.

THE TWO BIG DEPOTS.

SOME INFORMATION ABOUT THE PROPOSED GREAT STRUCTURES.

The Ground or Track Plans Will Give the Union Depot Co. More Trouble Than Anything Else—The Plans of the Merchants' Terminal Association.

There are now in the course of development plans for two depots which, if built according to the outlines which have been laid down by their projectors, will be first-class in every respect. The first is the Union passenger depot, of which so much has been said of late, and the other the Merchants' Terminal depot, the site of which is now a subject of discussion in the Municipal Assembly. The Union Depot is now entirely in the hands of the company which secured the ordinance. The city is waiting for them to submit plans and announce their intentions. In the second case the whole matter hinges upon the granting of permission by the city for laying a track across Third street at O'Fallon street.

The progress of the Union Depot has so far been steady and unobstructed by anything but the natural difficulties.

Hubert Tausig, chief engineer for the Union Depot Co. of St. Louis, is hard at work on the ground plans of the new depot. The lay of the tracks is being considered, this being a very important factor in the work. Within two weeks from this date he will present his report to the new Board of Directors of the company chosen yesterday afternoon. The city is waiting for them to submit plans and announce their intentions. In the second case the whole matter hinges upon the granting of permission by the city for laying a track across Third street at O'Fallon street.

UNION DEPOT PLANS.

Mr. Wm. Tausig, in speaking of the depot to-day, said that now the ordinance asked had been passed with the only serious objection owing to the short time allowed, his company will push their part of the contract forward as fast as possible.

"In fact," remarked Mr. Tausig, "it is necessary for us to rush. Four months is an extremely short time in which to do all the ground work for such a mammoth undertaking. When the yard plans are completed the work will have been fairly commenced, and architects can be engaged to get work on the plans for the building proper. The tracks must be arranged exactly so there will not even be a possibility of delay in moving trains when the depot facilities are thrown open to the use of the public. We must consider the room that we have at our disposal, and the number of tracks that must be placed upon this space. In other words, we must get all the accommodations possible out of our opportunities. A miscalculation at the beginning would make worry and bother continually, and probably the error could not be corrected even by the expenditure of a large sum of money. This is the reason that I say the time is short. But once Mr. Hubert Tausig can satisfy himself that he has the plan on which the necessary tracks can be laid and used, and the directors accept the same, there will be little trouble in proceeding. It will be an easy matter to make the building fit the tracks, but it would be another matter to make the tracks fit the building. If people grow inclined to think that there is unnecessary delay, they should remember that the facts and not expect us to rush right in and probably ruin the whole structure for future use or necessitate the useless expenditure of a large sum of money."

OF WHAT ARCHITECTURAL STYLE.

"What style of architecture will, in your opinion, be chosen?" he was asked.

"That is hard to decide, as the plans best suited to the city and conditions will most likely be accepted, little attention being paid to the outside appearance. Of course it will be desirable to have a grand and noble structure, but I mean that appearances will be a secondary consideration. It can be assured, however, that no plans will be accepted of which any St. Louis citizen would be ashamed, but on the contrary we will provide a depot which they will be able to point to with pride. We do not expect to imitate any of the great depots in the country, but will get up something as original as possible, yet containing all the accommodation features for which several railway depots in the country are famous. There is no question, but that we will be ready to proceed with the work on time, as we are not at all anxious to lose any of the rights with which we have been so lately endowed. The engineers' work has been found to contain many complications, which must be adjusted before any further proceedings are taken. As soon as the tangle is satisfactorily straightened we will call a directors' meeting and proceed to the consideration of the subject. There will be no unnecessary delay, only necessary caution."

In speaking of Mr. Tausig's uneasiness over the shortness of the time allowed in which to submit plans, a member of the Board of Public Improvements said: "Mr. Tausig need not feel uneasy on that score. He can submit a rough draft to us of the ground plan and explain matters; then the board will gladly extend the time."

THE MERCHANTS' TERMINAL DEPOT.

As to the other depot, the plan is now to erect a handsome freight depot on the triangular piece of ground bounded by Broadway, Third, Carr and O'Fallon streets, formerly known as the Round-top Market. The company has practically agreed to spend $200,000 on the building and so construct it as to afford the least inconvenience and the greatest facilities. The matter was up before the Council Committee on Railroads last night and on Thursday the plans of the company will be forthcoming for the criticism of the opposition.

ED CLIFTON ARRESTED FOR FRAUD.

The Labor Agitator Charged With Having

Furnished Worthless Securities.

A warrant for fraud was issued this morning by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep against Edward Clifton. The prosecuting witness in the action is Albert H. Klute, a druggist doing business at 1018 Garrison avenue. Klute says that on Jan. 28 Clifton came to his place and showed him a check for $22 on the Continental National Bank, issued by James M. Sherman and E. Clifton. He said he wanted a little money and was given $2, leaving the check as security. Two days later he again made his appearance and borrowed $10 on the check, saying he was going to the country for a few days. Klute waited for several weeks for Clifton's return and take up the paper. Then he went to the police of the Third District with his complaint. Officer Tobin last night went to Clifton's residence at 2445 Gamble street and placed the man under arrest. The prisoner insisted that the check was all right, saying that he had a perfect right to sign the name of James M. Sherman. Mr. Sherman, the manager of the Worthington Pump Manufacturing Co., was found at 404 Walnut street, and denied that he had ever given the man any such privilege. Clifton claims to be a newspaper man and says he was business manager of the defunct Free Press. He insists that he has a contract with Sherman which gave him the right to sign the check. Clifton is a married man, 40 years old. He is now in jail.

HUMPHREY'S.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 4, 1891.

The indications for to-day are fair, slightly warmer.

Take Care of Your Health.

For once gone it's like a worn-out Overcoat; you may patch it, but you can't make it as it was in the beginning. It'll soon be time for you to lay aside your Winter Overcoat. It won't be warm enough, though, for some time for you to go about without one of light weight; consequently the question, Will you need a new one? If so, you'll certainly consult your best interests by seeing our magnificent stock, in which you'll find good, serviceable, stylish Coats at $10.00, $12.00, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00, and others that are elegant for $25.00, $30.00 and $35.00. See those in our corner show-window; they'll give you some idea of what is contained in our stock.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Weak, Nervous and Despondent.

This aptly describes the sufferer from Nervous Debility. He is weak, tired, nervous, and spiritless, with dull and dizzy head, vision impaired, loss of memory, and wakes tired mornings, with bad taste in mouth and little appetite. He is gloomy, despondent, the nerves so weakened that the least excitement or shock will flush the face or cause trembling, often attended by palpitation.

THE CHINESE HERB REMEDIES ARE A SURE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY. BY THEIR USE THE EYES REGAIN THEIR BRILLIANCY, the weak and exhausted feelings give place to strength and vigor, the brain becomes clear, the nerves strong and steady, the gloom and depression are lifted from the mind, the sure indicator of health, strength and happiness.

READ THE FOLLOWING DECLARATION.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.: Please add my testimonial in your behalf to the many others I have seen published. For the last four years I have been more or less of an invalid. Most of the time I was not well enough to do anything. I have doctor after doctor, but to no avail. Some told me I had dyspepsia, others catarrh of the stomach, and others various diseases. And all failed to agree as to what my trouble was, and all failed to benefit or do me good. I spent a great deal of money trying to get cured, and had almost become discouraged. My heart, liver and kidneys all seemed affected. I could not sleep well. I was so nervous, I got up in the morning more tired than when I went to bed. My appetite failed me. In fact, I was leading a most miserable existence until about two months ago, seeing your advertisement, I determined to call upon you. I was convinced in a very short time that your remedies would do me good, and commenced taking them. In this short time I feel like a new man. I have gained ten pounds, and my friends hardly know me so great is my change for the better. I will frankly say that I feel you have given me a new lease of life, and I feel that I shall always take pleasure in recommending your Chinese Herb remedies. I enclosed I send you my picture, which you are at liberty to publish with this letter. Witnessing the greatest success, I am, your friend, F. W. WHITE, 3107 Locust st.

The Chinese Herb Remedy Co. was established for the purpose of curing all acute, chronic and nervous diseases. Its success has been phenomenal, as witnessed by the thousands of testimonials which are in our office, all of which
